About IE-NO-HIKARI Association

IE-NO-HIKARI Association, a member of the Japan Agricultural Cooperatives (JA) work to improve international and regional ties with the use of cultural activities.

We issue a children's monthly magazine called "CHAGURIN" to show and teach them the importance of foods and agriculture.

Picture Episode: In the case of Colombia

I am thankful that we had the opportunity to think about the environment around us through painting since I aim that our students think actively in my class and have fun while learning. Our city faces the Caribbean Sea, so the theme that the children often choose was related to the sea, and I think that it was a great opportunity to reflect on the preciousness of the ocean and the importance of all living things. I hope that the winning prize serves as motivation for our students to continue to be conscious of the environment.

*Report from Soichiro Kikuta (JICA Volunteers)

What is JICA?

As an operation agency of Japan's Official Development Assistance (ODA), JICA is an organization that carries out international cooperation activities in developing countries.
